Thirteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time – 26th June 2022

Masses for the Deceased: Omas Brischetto, Bruna Pollachini, recently deceased; Catherine Mary Fowler, Rita Cutelli, Annarosa Toscano, Ante

Bagaric, Peter Rayment, anniversaries, Elias Francis, his parents and sister, deceased members of the Beljo and Bagaric families.

For the Sick: Milka Damjanic, Jim Rathke

NOW IS THE ACCEPTABLE TIME: The publican cried: “Time, gentlemen, time.” In the corner of the inn sat a dead man at a table with an empty mug at his side and few scraps of unfinished food on a plate. It was closing time. Time for all to leave, but this man had left before all the others. He had gone in a split second. Time is a strange phenomenon. The only part of it we can call our own is that split second known as ‘now’. It is that split second that our fate will be decided. Now is the acceptable time; now is the day of salvation. Every slip second is pregnant with eternity. We can look back at the past and look forward to the future, but we can only live or die in the present.

In today’s Gospel Our Lord extended an invitation to us to follow him. He wanted an instant response; instead, he got procrastination. The ones he asked to follow said they must do something else first. The lesson for us is to realise the importance of instant service. The saints spoke of the “sacrament of the present moment”. They meant that every present moment has its content of grace, and we have the power to release its flow. Neither the past nor the future can increase our holiness, and our salvation does not depend on them. There may be no future and the past is over. We must live for God in the present in order that our future be assured. The Christian knows that God who is timeless has given us time to earn eternity. But we must always be prepared for that eternity. Christ tells us: No one who put his hand to the plough and looks back is fit for the kingdom of Heaven. All our energies must be directed to the present. We should indeed be sorry for our past misdeeds, but even that sorrow must be in the present. We can look forward to serving Our Lord in the future, but what is more important is to serve him now. We must not be procrastinators in our following of him.

The Solemnity of Ss. Peter and Paul will be celebrated on Wednesday, 29th June. The Holy Father’s Appeal (Peter’s Pence) will be made over the Masses this weekend (25th and 26th June). Envelopes are available in the foyer.
