THE GREAT LIGHT. All the phenomena of nature, besides having their inherent value, are also pointers to deeper unseen realities. Light and darkness are examples of this. Today's Gospel, quoting the words of Isaiah, speaks of Christ as a great light. The word light here can stand for either truth of goodness. The word darkness - for evil, ignorance or lack of understanding. Isaiah says "The people who sat in darkness have seen a great light". Christ's coming dispelled so much of men's ignorance of God and his ways. He came to show that in this world guile and force are not the only keys to the beatitude of success. He made clear the machination of evil powers and spread the radiance of his goodness among men.

People throughout the ages have been fascinated by the Light of Christ, the experience of innumerable converts to Christianity are a proof of it. Christ began his preaching by making converts. In the Gospel we see an example of the way in which Light stole into people's lives and transformed them. Christ came to the shores of the Sea of Galilee and revealed not only his presence, but the power of his personality to those fishing there. His light shining on them gave a depth of meaning to what they were doing so that their trade as fishermen took on a completely new significance. The fish became people, the fishing tackle the means of salvation and the sea became the world. Their very desire to catch fish was transformed into an enthusiasm to catch people. For Christ had so illumined their surroundings that they became entranced by his invitation and left their fishing to become fishers of humanity. Little did they realise at the time what this would mean for them, that they were take part in a gigantic exercise of remaking a world which had gone wrong. What this involved in pain, struggle, tribulation and agonising death would only be accepted once they realised the full power of Christ in their lives.

AUSTRALIA DAY: Today is Australia Day (26th January). All over Australia (and perhaps Australians overseas), we will celebrate our National Day. As Australians, we identify as a Nation and acknowledge the various cultures that make up the fabric of our society, including the contribution of the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples who came and settled this country first. There is no better way to celebrate our special day than our attendance at Mass to pray for this great Nation of ours, and to ask God's continual blessing on all its people. We are enriched by our diversity of backgrounds and cultures, but strengthened by our national identity and unity. God bless Australia! Our Special Australia Day Mass will be celebrated at 10 am this Sunday.

Collection at all Masses this weekend (Australia Day) for the St Vincent De Paul bushfire appeal. Our local St Vincent de Paul Society Conference will be coordinating the appeal and making envelopes available over the Australia Day weekend.
